About see more online: arigunz.com/about

Ari Gunzburg experienced trauma at an early stage in his life, when a teacher passed away while hiking on a field trip. Only a few years later Ari made a series of bad decisions, earning his "PhD" from the school of hard knocks. Ari dropped out of high school, went to jail, experimented with drugs, partied wild and more, all while figuring out the answers to life, the universe, and everything (got a towel?).

After 10+ years working in marketing, branding and websites, Ari is now focused on helping others – helping kids make better decisions, helping adults build lives of meaning, and helping everyone experience the wilderness. Ari is happily married, raising four children, and motivating people everywhere with his speeches and workshops.
